ABOUT US BENGAL PASSAGE LIMITED

Bengal Passage Limited is a globally recognized trading company specializing in the import and export of essential commodities. With a mission to bridge global supply chains and deliver value-driven solutions, we have established ourselves as a trusted partner in international trade. Our portfolio includes Liquefied Natural Gas (LNG), Liquefied Petroleum Gas (LPG), coal, stone, edible oil, and sugar – key resources that fuel industries and sustain lives.

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

Our company Punch line is “The Stamp of Quality & Professionalism” and each person in our organization ensures to deliver their best, making each of our customers believe in our punch line. There is no shortcut to achieving business goals with values like morals, ethics, honesty, etc. I strongly believe in hard work, delivering promised work with clients, and giving preference to Buyer satisfaction in achieving business success.

I believe that maintaining appropriate relationships with various stakeholders and fulfilling our duties to society by building an effective corporate governance system to ensure the efficiency, transparency, and fairness of management will ultimately contribute to the long-term, sustainable enhancement of corporate value.

We have adopted as our form of governance “a company with Audit & Supervisory Board,” and this is the framework within which we ensure the efficiency of management. Meanwhile, to enhance the effectiveness of our supervisory and monitoring functions, we are working to establish a corporate governance structure centered on the Board of Directors and the Audit & Supervisory Board. We are discussing various issues, including management remuneration, the selection and cultivation of new company officers, internal controls, and risk management.

We believe that the primary responsibility of a company is to create value. In the short, medium, and long term. So we do not dissociate value-creation from the development and real experience of the values. Our values, which shape our corporate mission, include Humanity, Merit, Entrepreneurship, and Citizenship.

It has been extensively shown in recent times that ignoring the social and environmental impacts of a company's activity can also be bad for business. In fact, when any company is no longer prepared to answer for its actions and the impacts of its decisions, it is no longer responsible.

I believe that the reputation and survival of companies in the 21st century are not only purely determined by market principles but also by the social acceptance that they earn.

I believe that in an increasingly globalized world, no one is excused from contributing towards the development of the Common Good and that, as a major economic player, we must be aware that profit must also be the result of responsible conduct, focused on generating more wealth, greater prosperity and more sustainability for the largest possible number of people.

we seek a balance between the necessary economic prosperity and an active contribution towards social and economic development and environmental conservation in the regions where we do business.

As such, we are committed to the communities in the countries where we operate and to continuously improving our ability to meet current needs in such a way that future generations may also be able to meet their own needs.

Because companies are not islands that can survive independently from what is around them. Along with being able to listen, respond to, and surprise the consumer, along with excellent operational and financial performance, relations with the various affected and interested parties in an organization's activity are determining factors for its long-term competitiveness and success.
